The Clean Energy Business Network is growing the clean energy economy—one small business at a time. We serve as a collective voice before policymakers empowering small businesses across multiple technologies and geographies, and help these companies navigate funding, networking, and business development opportunities.

The CEBN Power Circuit is a new series of regional events examining the policy and market landscape for clean energy across the United States. Each event includes a dialogue with influential industry, investment, research, and policy leaders, along with an opportunity to showcase the work of local small- and medium-size businesses.

Sponsorship of the CEBN Power Circuit provides positive exposure for your company or organization—both locally and to the CEBN’s nationwide network of more than 3,000 business leaders!
